Description

El Curso de Verano tiene como objetivo fundamental el de exponer la relevancia y pertinencia de la literatura, la cultura y las artes norteamericanas como ejemplo de la representación de la interculturalidad y la diversidad racial contemporánea, con el fin último de su aplicación didáctica en el aula. Este Curso se plantea tras la celebración del Curso de Verano "Multiculturalidad, Literatura y Arte: Del Oeste Norteamericano a las aulas" el pasado 2021. Esta nueva edición tiene entre sus objetivos el extender los contenidos, las perspectivas y el alcance del material propuesto en la pasada edición.

Así, el curso comenzará con la exposición la representación de conceptos tales como "el mito del Oeste" en las artes, como paradigma de la multiculturalidad y de la diversidad étnica. A continuación, las sesiones se se desarrollarán en torno a dos grandes ejes temáticos;

Por un lado, se abordarán las "VOCES" de aquellas comunidades consideradas "no-privilegiadas" en el Oeste Norteamericano a consecuencia de su "Otra" etnicidad. Se propondrá, así, una visión panorámica de la realidad socio-histórica de las comunidades chicana, afro-americana, nativo-americana, asiático-americana y vasco-americana, así como de su producción literaria y artística.

Por otro lado, se expondrán las "FORMAS" en las que estas comunidades han expresado y puesto en valor su diferencia. En este sentido, abordaremos la producción artística realizada desde y sobre el Oeste americano en sus diversas formas: literatura, cine, cómic y música.

En términos generales, se propone una aproximación a la realidad socio-étnica norteamericana a través de su producción artística y cultural. De este modo, se pretende abordar la situación socio-histórica de estas comunidades, así como proponer bibliografía de carácter diverso, con el fin de que sea empleado en el aula para abordar la interculturalidad y la diversidad étnica de nuestra sociedad actual.

Objectives

Ofrecer una aproximación a la historia y a la realidad contemporánea de los Estados Unidos de América, en particular al Oeste Norteamericano, y a su diversidad étnica y cultural, como paradigma de lo intercultural.

Exponer una aproximación teórica a la construcción de la diferencia étnica en Estados Unidos, englobada en el marco de los estudios étnicos y de género.

Exponer la relevancia del arte (Literatura, Cine, Televisión, Música, Cómic, etc) en la representación y transmisión de una realidad diversa y e intercultural.

Ofrecer un repositorio de material bibliográfico relacionado con la representación de la interculturalidad y la diversidad étnica y de género en los Estados Unidos (en particular, en el Oeste Norteamericano), con el fin de que sea empleado en el las aulas de diferentes etapas del proceso educativo, y en el de Secundaria, en particular..

Proponer una reflexión en torno a la relevancia de la utilización de la producción cultural (literatura, cine, televisión, música) para abordar la diversidad multicultural de las aulas de secundaria en el entorno pedagógico vasco-español actual.
