Description

On the occasion of the 45th anniversary of the Basque Parliament, this Summer Course aims to offer a space for reflection and debate, to prepare the way for its 50th anniversary. The 21st century is being a time of transition that poses new and complex challenges for democratic systems. In this context, parliaments must reflect on their role and functioning to respond to current challenges.

The course aims to look for answers to the following main questions: What are the main challenges of 21st century parliaments? How do these challenges affect the functions and functioning of the parliamentary chambers? Which good practices and measures are being developed to address these challenges?

Objectives

Identify the challenges of the 21st century that Basque and European parliaments will have to address, analyze their agenda of challenges, and provide a space of discussion to share best practices.

Know and disseminate good practices.

Provide a space for reflection and debate.
